KEYMACRO is a command line password manager and password generator. It works great to store passwords and create anonymity password for every operation. Keyboard macros on computers is a basic method for improving productivity on the computer, but sometimes they create a security issue due to their openable keyboard functionality. Use KEYMACRO to avoid this security issue by "KeyMacro-izing" your keyboard for better productivity. It requires that you use a combination of special keys to trigger commands, rather than using the mouse or cursor keys. The commands are created based on "macros" and can be tailored to your needs. You can create keyboard macros to perform a task such as copy/paste, auto text completion, paste from the clipboard, using the clipboard, or custom commands. The commands are created as the key sequence, such as 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 0. You can use the commands with your keyboard in various configurations including using a hot key or keyboard macro. Keyboard macros can store usernames and passwords, but the password is encrypted. What is NEW in Version 1.1: - New Error Reporting - New User Interface and Welcome Screen!
