I am working on a rails project in which I am working with timezones and I am facing a problem. In my project I have two different timezones: `t = Time.zone(name: 'Europe/Minsk')` `t = Time.zone('America/Chicago')` How can I convert `t` from Europe/Minsk to America/Chicago? I want to make it so that `t` has a value of 1:00AM. Thanks in advance for the help. A: If I understand your question correctly you have something like: `t = Time.zone('Europe/Minsk')` `t = t.in_time_zone('America/Chicago')` Can you please try to explain more about what you are trying to achieve? Looking back: Conference Recap #4: Why Go Green? This week's "Conference Recap" asks the question, why go green? The Green Team answers back in a video blog all about the Conference, Green Waste Solutions, how to Recycle, and more! This week's video blog is a conference recap of how the Green Team has been spending their time during our conference. Green Team members were on the road Friday and Saturday teaching at the three workshops held on Saturday at the conference and Sunday's conference workshop. We hope this video blog helps clarify some of the ideas and information presented at our conference. If you are attending Greenbuild 2012 be sure to connect with the Green Team on the Expo floor!Mom's New Year's Resolution This is for me. The year of the woman. You think it can't be true, but I'm a woman. I've been a woman all my life and I'm proud of it. I'm a fighter, I'm proud of that too. Fighting is hard, it takes a lot of strength. Since I'm a woman, I'm supposed to fight for the rights of women
