Before I could read about anything having to do with the movie or its cast, I had already developed an attachment. I didn't get the chance to go to the premiere, but I watched the film at my brother's house. He is a huge sci-fi nerd and he had the movie in his collection of everything Star Wars related. I was all excited when I saw what it was. I got a little bit scared. What if it sucked? It had a lot of hype and I wanted to support it. I was a little bit nervous and I didn't know if I would enjoy it. I ended up watching it over the weekend. I got to see it at my friend's house. She has a little girl who I have been friends with for a long time. Her little girl is obsessed with Star Wars. I hadn't seen the movie in awhile and I was a little nostalgic. I was able to sit there with a bowl of popcorn and it hit me how much of a fan I was. I got a little teary eyed and when it ended I was a little disappointed. I think the movie deserved a little more. Let's talk about the cast, shall we? I was so excited to see a lot of the big name actors I had been seeing on the box in grocery stores and around Hollywood, turn up in this. Harrison Ford! Peter Mayhew! Carrie Fisher! Mark Hamill! I saw Peter Mayhew in the grocery store in San Diego, California the other day. He was in the store stocking up on Cheetos and Häagen-Dazs. He was in that aisle with his tub of Cheetos and I didn't know if I should say hi. I just stared at him and he smiled back at me. I was excited to see him in the movie. It's weird to see him in a big role on the big screen and he looks different. He is aging now. I hope they had
