The periphery control circuitry 64 is coupled to the n-channel MOSFETs of the sense amp 30, and includes a p-channel MOSFET 66 which turns on and off a clock signal to gating circuits 68 and 70. The bitline sensing circuitry 72 is coupled to the p-channel MOSFET 66, and includes sense amplifier circuitry 74 coupled to the bitline 40, such that during the read mode, the n-channel MOSFETs pass bitline sense voltage during a first phase of sensing, and during a second phase of sensing, the sense amplifier circuitry 74 passes bitline sense voltage to the bitline 40. Although the above-identified SRAMs provide improved density and performance, there is a need in the art for a SRAM structure that reduces power dissipation.I got my guitar back!! I was really worried about that other one but then I heard that my CD hadn't arrived in the mail so... I still have my guitar, and my new fiddle. It's even less than the other one but I'm super happy. The weirder thing is, a few months ago I was sorting through boxes to get started working on my CD, and I was playing the songs on my guitar. I thought they sounded great... then I played them on the fiddle and they sounded much, much better. So, I don't know how I played the songs in the past... but now that I have them they sound great. I didn't get a chance to practice them much before I left for the hospital, so hopefully I will be able to play on the CD. Here's the song list. I still have some time to add a few more songs to the list, and work on some songs already on the list, and work on the new ones. I hope to have the CD completed by June 1st. I will be posting the link to my demo page once it is released. You are not required to use ba244e880a
