Donell Jones Donell Jones (born August 20, 1973), is an American rapper and singer. Biography Born and raised in Chicago, Illinois, Jones started making music at a young age. During his teenage years, he worked for a prison department as a correctional officer and was also in a local boy band. Jones dropped out of school and in 1993 released his first album, Life Goes On, produced by Chicago producer Chaundon, and recorded in a small basement studio located at his parent's house. Jones was a member of the rap group Checkmates Club, who released their debut album through Shady Records, F.A.M.E., in 1999. They had a few big hits, including "Bump N Grind", and "Shake You". Life Goes On was remixed and included on the compilation album Street Hop Presents the Definitive 50. Jones now has more than 25 singles on the Billboard 200 Chart, including "The Donnell Sessions", "Dirt", "Lolita", "Money", and "Come to Me". Jones has collaborated with major artists such as Jay-Z, Kanye West, The Game, B.o.B., Brandy, Akon, Ludacris, The Black Eyed Peas, Swizz Beats, Ja Rule, T.I., Trina, Fat Joe, Lloyd, Young Jee 2d92ce491b
