Interesting.. I tried to run dig aritmetica.example.com and i got the following results: If you notice that: User@(none) at start of output @ in reverse-lookup (incl. authenticated sites) in named lookup User@XXX.XX.XXX.XXX. @ is not found in the reverse-lookup, which looks like as if it was a reverse-lookup from an authenticated site. Why is that, and what could cause that? My DNS records look like the following: A: I finally found the answer: The MX records were set to mail.domain.com, so that I was sending mail to domain.com, which is obviously a bogus mail address (thanks to qcumber's comment). I now changed the MX records to @ so that my domain name is what's expected in the mails. Thanks to everyone! Srinagar: By evening, tens of thousands of Kashmiris across the Valley poured into streets to celebrate the repeal of Article 370, the special status of Jammu and Kashmir. Some of them held black flags with the image of Prime Minister Narendra Modi and President Ram Nath Kovind, and sang patriotic songs. Around 4 pm, traffic at Kashmir's Sonwar-Banihal bypass was halted and the road was closed. Similar protests took place at other important places like Langate, Chinar Bagh, Reasi. Jammu and Kashmir governor Satya Pal Malik has said that the restrictions on public transport and public movement in Srinagar, the state's main city, have been lifted. In the morning, more than a dozen car bombs exploded across the Kashmir Valley, killing five security personnel and five civilians. The main ones took place in Nowhatta, Handwara and Wazir Bagh. A number of militant hideouts were also destroyed.Q: Why does my linkedlist loop through it's contents twice? #include #include using namespace std; struct Node { int data; Node* next; }; class LinkedList { public: LinkedList(); ~LinkedList(); void
