Key determines the list of keys to be tested. The list of keys can be separated with comma (,), wildcard (), or space (.). The default value is the System.Security.Cryptography.X509Certificates.X500DistinguishedName object. Only the following keys are currently supported: CN = Common Name C = Country L = Locality O = Organizational Unit Name OU = Organizational Unit Name ST = State or Province ST = State or Province S = Street ST = State or Province Street = Street Locality = Locality OS = Organization Name NOTE: You must specify the full path to the file or the folder in the path parameter. If you try to use a wildcard or space in the path parameter, SNRemove will not find the specified file/folder, and will return an error message. Example: SNRemove -r "c:\myfiles.dll" SNRemove -d "cn=My Distinguished Name,dc=com,dc=my,dc=com" SNRemove -r "c:\myfiles*.dll" -d "cn=My Distinguished Name,dc=com,dc=my,dc=com" NOTE: If the file is signed with more than one Key, it must be specified for each of the keys. The parameter may also contain wildcards. The default value is the string "". The parameter must be followed by the file name, path, or directory path. Example: SNRemove -r "c:\myfiles*.dll" SNRemove -d "cn=My Distinguished Name,dc=com,dc=my,dc=com" SNRemove -r "c:\myfiles*.dll" -d "cn=My Distinguished Name,dc=com,dc=my,dc=com" Example: SNRemove -r "c:\myfiles1.dll,c:\myfiles2.dll" Important: If you are modifying an assembly with no reference to a strong name key, SNRemove will not remove the signature from it. If you are modifying an assembly with a strong name reference, and SNRemove detects that the reference to the strong name signature has been removed, it will automatically re-add the signature to the assembly. If you are modifying an executable file, and SNRemove detects that
