The two people were found dead at the O'Briens' friend's house on Ochalea Lane. After the deaths, O'Briens were charged. Authorities said they had their husband and wife evaluated at a hospital, but they did not. On July 13, U.S. Representative Joe Barton of Texas' 15th District lost his seat in a primary election to Republican challenger J.D. Davis. Barton, the longest serving member of the Texas congressional delegation, was the only member of Congress to vote against the ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment, and in 1988 he was a prominent speaker at the Republican National Convention against it. He has been open about his belief that the causes of cancer, heart disease, stroke and Alzheimer's disease are partly environmental. Although Barton was the only gay member of Congress, his openly gay former press secretary, David Pyick, said, "The most important legacy of Joe Barton was his tireless advocacy for the rights of all Texans. According to the same press release, Pyick also said, "I am proud to join other Texas Republicans in supporting J.D. Davis, who will bring forward such values as fairness, and standing up for people and our economy at a time when we need both the most." And yes, I will be more fiscally conservative, so this race is not about me running on my own policies. It's about who can offer the best solutions and job growth for the 11th District of Texas." Prior to his election, Barton was the chairman of the subcommittee on telecommunications and the Internet. According to the Houston Chronicle, in 2009, Barton had given free access to oral sex to a male escort and asked him to perform a sex act on him. Barton admitted to "inappropriate conduct," but stated that he didn't remember the incident. "The older I get, the more mature I have become, and I just don't remember that incident," he told the Chronicle. The editorial board of the Houston Chronicle, however, had no problem calling for Barton's resignation. "So 3ef4e8ef8d
