This software enables you to create and edit macros for all sorts of applications. KeyMacro is a utility program that allows you to automatically perform certain actions in a web browser, without having to write a single line of code. Once you have the program installed on a computer, you can add a shortcut to its main folder, which will take you straight to the application that is assigned to it. Once the link is active, you can type a few letters on your keyboard to activate the macro. The macros are then automatically performed in a web browser, which allows you to rapidly and easily perform common and repetitive tasks, without having to write a single line of code. KeyMacro is mainly used to create custom shortcuts for Internet Explorer, Google Chrome and other web browsers, but you can also build a command or shortcut for your favorite apps.
