A bunch of them went to students that were starting college, and some of them were using it for the first time. All of the owners I spoke with said that it was actually really nice to be able to type again. If you're a student, or a Windows 10 user, I definitely recommend that you at least download the Office 2016 Beta. My only complaint, is that when I tried to connect to a server via Remote App, the connection wouldn't work. I'm not sure if it's just an issue with my network, or if there's a problem with how Remote Desktop works on the 1607 Fall Creators Update. Despite my complaint, I did find that it's a great application, and all of the users I spoke with found it to be a nice improvement over the Windows 10 version of Office. I'm not going to go through it point by point, because frankly, I found most of the new features to be useless. However, I'll mention a few of the new features that have caught my attention so far. - The new "Ink Canvas" tool allows you to draw, sketch or scribble on documents and have Office start typing your handwriting immediately. This feature is disabled by default, so I had no idea what this was all about. I still don't know if it's useful, but it's definitely nice to see it. - It now has a
