Zn and Co complexes are known that are active both in water and in polar solvents. For example, EP-A-0 727 937 describes a Zn complex of an aryl- or heteroaryl-pyridyl-bis-pyridylmethane. A number of examples are known in which water-soluble divalent copper(II) complexes of both the Zn(II) and the Co(II) are bis-pyridyl complexes with mono-aryl, mono-heteroaryl and mono-aryl-mono-heteroaryl pyridyl ligands, such as, for example, 2,2'-bipyridyl, 1,10-phenanthroline, 2,2'-biimidazole and 1,10-phenanthrenequinone. The latter is described in EP-A-0 585 952, for example. In these examples, the aim is to obtain complexes with good stability against oxidation by the choice of the ligand and/or by the choice of the mono-pyridyl or bis-pyridyl complex. WO 03/054 243, WO 03/054 275 and EP-A-0 846 177 disclose copper(II) complexes with N2O2C.sub.6 F5SO2, N2O2C6F5 and N2O2C6F4SO, respectively. N3C.sub.6 F5SO, where the ligands are coordinated to copper(II) via a nitrogen atom and an oxygen atom, as well as via a nitrogen atom, an oxygen atom and a fluorine atom, and a complex with monofluoro-substituted pyridyl ligands, including 2-fluoro-6-pyridin-3-yl-pyridine or 2-fluoro-6-pyridin-4-yl-pyridine. It is stated that the aim of the ligand is to give complexes that are not or only

My former supervisor told me I was a source of inspiration to him one day last week. Actually, I'd like to think he meant that not only was I working to provide a healthier lifestyle for my family, but also I was providing inspiration and advice to others on the path to a fitter and healthier lifestyle. However, there are times when we hear the words "inspire" and "inspiration" that we think we are doing others a big favour by providing ideas, advice, inspiration and motivation. I think this was the case for him. He told me that he finds it somewhat inspirational to hear how someone, somewhere, is trying to build a healthier, happier family and there's light on the horizon. This is something I'm thinking about, too. I'm considering that maybe I'm more of an inspiration to someone, somewhere, than I am to me. What do you think? When I speak with clients, one of the things I want to share with them is that the road to health is a journey for them, too. I want to remind them that, when it comes to being a healthy person, there is much more to it than just what you are doing to make changes to your life.
